Musk is reposting the journalists who released the information about his team - things are going to get ugly. Congress needs to wake up

DOGE: One of the 'journalists' who decided to doxx members of Trump's DOGE team is a Mashable reporter a couple of years out of UNT who likes to sleep in his free time with his orange cat. He reviewed the background of the DOGE team and found them lacking. Let me tell you a Show more

I believe the entire "culture war" exists solely because they can't say the n-word and it's equivalents. CRT, kneeling during the national anthem, DEI, is all ways to be roundabout racist because they're not yet at the point of feeling comfortable enough to simply lay it all out like their grandparents did.

DEI hire? Did a damn good job identifying some people trying to be sneaky....and pissed the right people off by doing it. Sounds like he was the most qualified person for the job and exactly the opposite of a DEI hire. So this is just their new racist dogwhistle. Got it.

Its like the word woke. They use it in such wrong ways that eventually it means something different. 'Woke' is just their term for 'empathetic'

88 Reply Share

Kheldarson • 58m ago

This is an out of control private citizen trying to silence the free press. He's not formally part of the federal government, with no congressional recognition, mandate, or clearance.

vutski • 28m ago

He was put in place by the current president.

The first amendment exists specifically for cases like this.

3 Reply Share

Kheldarson • 23m ago • Edited 18m ago

First amendment has nothing to say on whether or not someone is a federal employee. That's federal code, which is established by Congress in conjunction with the executive branch (including agencies therein).

Basically, until it's recognized by Congress, Elon's position means nothing, federally.

So, yeah. Private citizen being allowed to steal our data.

Edit: And, just to add, it's really important to not allow them to slip Elon in like this. We need to hold them accountable, even in our language, to make them have to fight for the legitimacy they crave. Do not give in to the tyrant in advance. Point out that this is all illegal. That he doesn't have clearance. That this is against federal code. It may not be a lot, but it's what we have, and we know it bugs the shit out of them because of how they respond.

Let's be clear. This is an unelected government bureaucrat who is literally attacking free speech.

That is what Elon is right now.

These reporters were just reporting on official given business and Elon is harassing them for doing their jobs.

THIS is what a violation of free speech looks like. Since Elon is doing this in his capacity as a government employee. Fyi

This was exactly the question I keep asking myself. Exactly when was Elon Musk hired by the government, and what in the world is his job title? The last I heard, DOGE was put down due to federal regs about creating new departments within the government not being followed. Apparently, it somehow got rolled into an existing governmental agency. I never heard that Musk was formally hired nor that he has any official powers in any capacity. So how is he getting away with this shit?

OK, for those that don't know or seem to not understand, posting someone's name is NOT doxxing. Doxxing is when you reveal personal info, such as an address or phone number, post Street View pictures of their residence, their SS number, etc.

BTW, that Luke Fartter, has had his name published already MULTIPLE times. He used AI to decipher some ancient text and won an award for it. He is easily Googled.
